

Dear International Office representative,

ISAE Business School would like to cordially invite your students to participate in an internship here in Curitiba, Brazil. The internship is ideally suited for international business, sustainability, management, international relations and co-related areas students that have a focus on Brazil or Latin America.

This internship is focused but not limited to business development, international relations, project management as well as project development. A typical intern is given about three to four projects to work at on any given time so it is paramount that the student possesses exceptionally multi-tasking skills.

The competitive applicant must have:

- Fluency in English or Spanish
- Ability to multi-task
- Ability to be adaptable and flexible
- Knowledge of Brazilian Culture
- Be an undergraduate or in an accredited masters program
- Willingness to learn and adapt quickly
- Willingness to develop Portuguese and Brazilian cultural skills
- Proficiency in Microsoft MS Suite
- Desirable working knowledge of Portuguese

Why Curitiba?

One of the most leading cities of innovation in all of South America, the city of Curitiba has been at the forefront of innovation and sustainability in Brazil. The city has pioneered a highly efficient and environmentally responsible mass transit system along with several other innovative development projects in the city such as the Microsoft Innovation Center and the pedestrian streets that have come to be a marvel in the downtown.

Why Brazil?

Lately Brazil has been down and out for the count, this can be seen through the investment downgrades and the lack of confidence in the country deriving from the political situation which has had a disturbing trickle-down effect. However, Brazil is and forever will be resilient. The future always looks bright in this country and the people make the best of their situation with a promising attitude. There is a reason to be more optimistic about this country as we now live in a globalized world where technology, a growing sense of environmental responsibility, the free flow of information, the vibrant exchange of ideas, and a younger generation that has grown irritated of past failures all point toward a more-now-than-ever approach to improvement.

Why this Institution?

ISAE is on the cutting-edge of innovation and at the crossroads of raising awareness by helping the education market promote responsible practices that generate social, business and economic development.

ISAE is a signatory of the Global Compact of the United Nations (Global Compact – UN) and the PRME (Principles for Responsible Management Education – UN). The ISAE promotes training, development and updating of executives guided by principles disseminated globally present in policies and practices implemented by the largest and most respected organizations in the world.

Kind regards,

Gustavo Loiola
